The pageant is staged on the manor where Church elders believe the Angel of death Joseph Smith the son of golden plates which

A cast of 500 performs on 25 different stages. According to Dr. Hansen, stage improvements should improve the show's technical quality.

Anderson Talk Slated For Assembly Today

The Secretary to the First Presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will be the speaker at today's Devotional assembly.

Elder Anderson will deliver the address at 10 a.m. in the de Jong Concert Hall of the Harris Fine Arts Center.

He has held his current position since 1923. Thus he has been secretary to Presidents Heber J. Grant, George Albert Smith, and David O. McKay.

Elder Anderson has taken minutes of meetings and has handled correspondence for the First Presidency for nearly half a century, giving him an intimate knowledge of Church administration.

He founded Weber Academy when President McKay was principal of the school.

Wild, Wild Western Weekend

By Suzee Edwards
Student Government Editor

BYU is going western.

Happy Valley, U.S.A. will for the weekend August 7-9 be transformed into home on the range as the ASBYU Social Office's "Wild, Wild West Weekend" invades the "Y."

Making its first appearance on the university calendar, the Wild West Weekend is replacing Lagoon Day. The change has come about to provide an activity to increase the opportunities for more student participation, especially in terms of the BYU families in terms of the BYU families in student, faculty, and staff.

HARTFORD CONCERT

One of the highlights of the weekend will be the John Hartford concert, under the stars at 8:30 p.m. Friday. The singer-composer is associated with the Genn Campbell program. His best-known song is the currently popular "Gentle on My Mind."

Scenes around the Y Corral will include a chuckwagon beef barbecue, bronco bonanza and western movies. Two dances, "Cactus Cottages" and "Custer's Last Stomp" will cap the weekend activities Saturday.

During the hours after sundown, a special dispensation has been granted which will allow the coeds to wear slacks and the gents levis on campus. This does not include during classes, however.

Tickets for the "Wild, Wild Weekend" activities will go on sale Thursday in the ticket office on the third floor of the Wilkinson Center.

For the "Wild, Wild Weekend" activities will go on sale Thursday in the ticket office on the third floor of the Wilkinson Center.

Elder Anderson is also a member of the Bonneville Stake High Council.

He was appointed Clerk of the General Conference of the Church in April, 1928. For the 40 years since then, he has had the responsibility of recording and publishing all the talks at those gatherings.

Elder Anderson also recorded the addresses of the temples in Alberta, Arizona, Idaho Falls, Los Angeles and Oakland.

He has traveled extensively with presidents of the Church. He was present when President Smith presented President Avillo Camacho of the Republic of Mexico a copy of the Book of Mormon.

Elder Anderson served in the Swiss-German Mission of the Church and was mission secretary.

Astronauts Face Moon Aftermath

By Jim Hunt
Managing Editor

Three pioneers splashed back onto earth on Utah's Pioneer Day, ending their historic voyage to the Moon.

Their trip has ended, but their activity is far from over.

Nell Armstrong, Edwin Aldrin and Michael Collins now are facing the rigorous aftermath of the flight of Apollo 11.

They have been kept in biological isolation on the slight chance they may be infested with unknown human organisms.

But even though they are isolated physiologically, they are not alone. The explorers are going through the debriefing process, which thus far has included a seven-hour session Sunday with astronaut chief Donald K. Slayton.

Meanwhile, the rocks collected by the astronauts are undergoing a remarkably similar scrutiny. Like the astronauts, the rocks are in isolation. And like the voyagers, they are exposed to the probing view of numerous scientists.

So far, the composition of the rocks is undetermined. Most of the problems in identification are the result of the core scientists are taking with them—none gets close enough to isolated minerals, ever by sight.

Meanwhile, the Soviet space probe Luna 15, is assumed to have been a failure, at least in part. It accomplished some tasks in orbit, but it apparently crashed on the moon without finishing its mission.

Student Government Calls For Leaders

Registration for the Leadership Intern Program will be this week, according to Tom Dupax.

Signups will take place on the walkway immediately west of the West Patio just outside the Wilkinson Center. Look for the booth beside the entrance that leads to both the Bookstore and the snack bar.

Registration tables will be manned Tuesday from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., Wednesday from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. and Thursday from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

BYU student government sponsors the Leadership Intern Program to provide background to students interested in working with student government.

The theory behind the program is that the preparation will give the interns better insights into the operation of student government so that they can fit into the Fourth Floor operations more easily.

"We want to get students who have not previously worked in student government involved," Dupax commented.

"Their ideas, talents and abilities can be used in student government," he continued.

The Leadership Intern Program will "acquaint students with the fundamentals and general programs of student government," Dupax said.

"It will provide a program that will make it comfortable and easy for students to participate in their areas of interest," he said.

Schwendiman Named To Y Business Post

Fred A. Schwendiman, director of auxiliary services at BYU, has been appointed assistant vice-president for business, it was announced today by President Ernest L. Wilkinson.

In this position Mr. Schwendiman will be in charge of student housing, food service, auxiliary special services and maintenance, university laundry, purchasing department, warehousing, property management, bookstore, farm properties, and other business activities.

The appointment is effective immediately, President Wilkinson said.

Mr. Schwendiman, who joined the BYU administration in 1953, is also president of the BYU Third Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. He filled missions for the Church in Great Britain and eastern United States.

He served in the Pacific in World War II and currently is active and holds the rank of captain in the Naval Reserve. Also he serves as naval officer procurement adviser and liaison officer for the commandant of the 12th Naval District.

He received the bachelor's degree from University of Utah and attended Harvard Graduate School of Business.

Before joining the BYU staff he was manager of Lagoon resort, a personnel officer with the Veterans Administration, vocational rehabilitation counselor with the Utah Department of Education, an account executive for KSL television, and personnel officer and examining adviser with the U.S. Civil Service Commission.

Parking Meters On Campus?

Dear Editor:

After working myself up to it for several weeks, and more recently spending a few sleepless nights, I've finally decided to put my wrath into words and be done with it.

My only gripe with this university is the lousy system of parking that it has. Fully realizing the problems of other campuses (notably U.C.L.A.), I feel that parking fee), it is doing its right the best it can done by this institution.

For Summer School, I paid $10 in fees for the right to park on campus. Broken down, that was $5 for my V.W. and $5 for a small Yamaha. Does that mean that I'm entitled to a whole space for the Yamaha (after all, I did pay the whole amount)? Sorry, I can't even park on the islands at the fieldhouse anymore. Now what's more harmless than that?

Furthermore, why do the employees who spend the whole day in offices have the right to park within fifty paces of their desks? It would only seem fair that those spaces should have an hour time limit on them. I have yet to see an establishment business person that employs to the prime areas of parking. It would seem to me that students, who come and go hourly, could make better use of our "prime parking" than those employees who leave their cars in one spot for eight hours. It rained the only day I ever drove my car to a class. It happened to be a religion class in the J.S.M. Building. By the time I found a space (on the other side of the fine arts building) and got to class I was fifteen minutes late. The walk in the rain bugged me, but what really burned me was that the lot right next to the Smith Building was virtually empty—as it usually is.

I don't say that professors shouldn't be able to park there, but do they need that many spaces?

In short, my idea is that we ought to forget fees and parking areas, put in parking meters, and if we must, give free parking stickers to the faculty and staff. At $1.35 per hour we could co-eds to gain citations and really cash in on the fines. I'd much rather pay a nickel to be able to park within a reasonable distance of a class than be stuck one semester for one amount and not be able to park anywhere near my class.

Respectfully Yours,
David G. Bailey

Anti-Social

Editor:

I wish to take exception to Mr. Reisner's comment that some of the more discerning students are becoming disaffected with the Church because of the socialist-like doctrines taught at BYU. His article indicates that many students, especially the honor students, become disaffected with BYU, not with the Church, because of the artificial insulation against anything thought to be left of center that is super-imposed upon them. They do not interpret the goal of the education of the whole man as a mandate to indoctrinate another part of him and do not let discerning students do not leave the Church. They leave BYU (or stay and try to improve it).

Bad Word

Dear Miss Lowe,

I think your use of a recent word was totally out of place in your article pleading for friends to Linda or whatever her name is. Using that word in the context of your story was an exhibition of the worst journalistic taste that has been printed in the Universe this summer. However, judging by the quality of the rest of the paper, this can be taken as a compliment.

Sincerely your friend,

True justice is based on the law of love. So surely the more we are able to keep ourselves in tune with this law of love, the more assured we are of justice in our life. We know that the more we are able to empty out our heart of bitterness and resentment, the closer we will be to God and His good. We believe that the law of justice which God's divine law of justice operates as we center our thoughts and our faith in God, for His goodness cannot be overthrown or set aside, as we know that God's power is at work to adjust every condition.

Liquid "Gold" for Tax Collectors

Federal and state motor fuel taxes are generating revenue at the rate of one million dollars an hour during 1969. This will total close to $9 billion, more than the revenue derived from any other commodity.

During the past half-century federal and state taxes from this source totaled more than $12 billion—about the same as the total expenditures of the federal government from its establishment in 1789 through 1936.

People called the gasoline tax a "painless penny" when it was first levied 50 years ago in Oregon for highway construction, but today it is neither painless nor a penny.

They have played in some almost inaccessible places in Europe, and are glad to be traveling to Provo by more conventional means for their concerts in the de Jong Concert Hall at the Harris Fine Arts Center on Saturday and Wednesday night at 8:15 p.m.

The programs, which promise to be imaginative and varied, include music of the baroque, classical and contemporary periods. For lovers of Spanish music, "The Jet Whistle" of Villa-Lobos will be featured this evening. Baroque enthusiasts will be especially interested in the works of Vivaldi and Couperin, Wednesday night.
